Description

A collection of eight antique lignum vitae stonemason's mallets. Ranging in size and weight for different tasks.

Lignum vitae stonemason's mallets are prized for their exceptional durability and density. This hardwood, one of the hardest in the world, provides excellent impact resistance, making it ideal for precision stone carving. Its natural oils reduce wear and prevent cracking, extending the mallet's life span. Stonemasons value lignum vitae for its ability to absorb shock, minimising hand fatigue. Though rare and expensive, these mallets remain a top choice for traditional and fine-detail masonry work.
