

Single progressing strand of cultured pearls

Sold

Description

A single progressing strand of cream cultured pearls with a white gold diamond set clasp, circa 1930.

Pearls are unique gemstones that can improve with wear. The natural oils from human skin can enhance a pearl's lustre and colour over time, maintaining their beauty and sheen. Regular wear helps keep pearls hydrated, preventing them from drying out and cracking, thus preserving their delicate surface and radiant appearance.