Description

A provincial pine side table with fruit-wood top over a single drawer on square legs with a later distressed paint finish to the base, circa 1880.

Fruitwood furniture is crafted from the hardwood of fruit-bearing trees like cherry, pear, and apple. Known for its fine grain, smooth texture, and rich hues, fruitwood adds warmth and elegance to any space. Over time, the wood develops a beautiful patina, enhancing its natural beauty. Its durability and unique character make it a popular choice for both traditional and contemporary designs, offering a rustic yet sophisticated aesthetic to homes and spaces.
