

Art Deco silver and amethyst brooch

Sold

Description

An Art Deco silver brooch set with two sugar loaf amethysts, circa 1925.

The sugarloaf cut is a distinctive gemstone cut characterised by its rounded, pyramid-like shape with a smooth, domed top. This cut, often used for cabochons, emphasises the stone's colour and clarity by minimising facets. Popular in vintage and modern jewellery, the sugarloaf cut enhances the gem's natural beauty and elegance.
