

Georgian double strand of coral beads and pearls, circa 1790

£475

REF: 5040

Description

Georgian double strand of coral beads and pearls, some being fish-scale pearls and with a silver and paste cluster clasp. circa 1790.

Coral and pearl beads are prized in jewellery for their natural beauty and rich history. Coral beads, often red or pink, are made from marine coral, symbolising protection. Pearl beads, formed in oysters, exude elegance and purity. Both materials are cherished in various cultures for their symbolic and aesthetic value.
