Description

A rare Georgian rose gold multicolour paste lovers eternity ring set with foil backed paste stones, circa 1790

Foil-backed stones are gemstones or crystals with a metallic foil layer applied to their back surfaces. This foil enhances the stone's brilliance and reflective qualities, making it appear more radiant and colourful. Commonly used in costume jewellery, they mimic the sparkle of natural gemstones at a lower cost. The foil backing protects the stone, intensifies light reflection, and amplifies visual appeal.
