Description

A refined triple-strand cultured pearl choker necklace, finished with an elegant yellow-gold clasp set with an amethyst and framed by pearls. The three closely graduated strands sit beautifully at the base of the neck, creating a full, luxurious profile while retaining the timeless restraint associated with classic pearl jewellery.

The pearls have a soft, flattering lustre and are arranged to give the necklace a graceful, balanced fall. Their warm iridescence is complemented by the rich yellow-gold clasp, which provides a striking focal point at the back or, if preferred, can be worn turned to the front as a decorative feature. The central amethyst adds a subtle wash of violet, while the surrounding pearls echo the necklace's principal motif and bring cohesion to the design.

Combining the enduring elegance of pearls with the colour and character of amethyst, this is a versatile jewel suited to both formal occasions and elevated everyday wear. It would look particularly effective with an open neckline, tailored eveningwear, or bridal attire, and offers a sophisticated alternative to a single-strand pearl necklace.

A handsome and wearable piece of classic jewellery, ideal as a gift or as an addition to a collection of pearl and gemstone pieces.
