Description

A pair of early 20th century signed Muller Frères pâte de verre pendant lamp shades with bronze gallery and fittings.

Fitted with brown twisted flex.

Muller Frères pâte de verre glassware represents a refined expression of early 20th-century French decorative art. Created by the Muller brothers in Lunéville, these pieces showcase meticulous craftsmanship, where finely ground glass is moulded and kiln-fired to achieve soft, luminous textures.

Their work often features naturalistic motifs-flowers, landscapes, and organic forms-enhanced by subtle colour gradations and delicate translucency. Associated with the Art Nouveau and later Art Deco movements, Muller Frères glass embodies both artistic innovation and technical mastery.

Today, their pâte de verre creations are highly prized by collectors for their beauty, rarity, and historical significance.
